As, the old man Radhakrishna, hobbled about the grounds, waiting for a sign that would indicate a source of water underneath, he paid little attention to the six-year-old boy who followed him around in rapt wonder. When the old man stopped for a respite, he handed over the divining rod to the eager little boy. Barely a few moments had passed when the rod started vibrating in the boy's hand. The old man looked at the uncomprehending child, knowing what this meant. He pronounced, "You have the gift. Use it for the good of the people." By the time, Ramchandra Rao was 10; his gift was recognised by a score of villagers, all around, who took the boy on their shoulders at times, to locate the ideal spot to dig a bore-well, to find a perennial source of water. Still, it was only after he had completed his graduation and after he had put in time at a white-collar job that he finally came to terms with his calling. Rao became a professional water diviner. Thirty-six years on, Rao has 90 percent success rate, and has been instrumental in locating spots for over 20,000 bore wells across the country, estimating the yield and depth, direction of flow, et al for each one.

The truth is there are two great classes of sins ----- sins of the Body, and sins of Disposition. The Prodigal son may be taken as a type of the first, the Elder Brother of the second. Now society has no doubt whatever as to which of these is the worse. Its brand falls without challenge upon the Prodigal. But, are we right? We have no balance to weigh one another's sins, and coarser and finer are but human words: but faults in the higher nature may be less venial than, those in the lower, and to the eye of Him who is Love, a sin against Love may seem a hundred times more base. No form of vice does more to un-christianise the society than evil temper. For sheer gratuitous misery producing power, this influence stands alone. Jealousy, anger, pride, uncharity, cruelty, self righteousness, touchiness, doggedness, glumness ----- in varying proportions these are the ingredients of all ill temper. It seems the common house sparrow has disappeared from the city. However, ornithologists maintain that while sparrow numbers are dwindling, the bird has not disappeared entirely from the city but only shifted to more inhabitable parts. A recent countryside survey initiative called Citizen Sparrow is now roping in residents who want to report about their experience with sparrows. The Bombay National History Society and Ministry of Environment & Forests have organized this unique sparrow survey. So far it has indicated that, a large number have sighted the bird, which gives new hope to conservationists. Declining number of sparrows is not just about missing the tiny bird. It is an indicator of something much graver.
